MINOR IN SUSTAINABILITY

To future self:

Hey man, you experienced lot of things over your formative years in Ateneo. I know that you're the type to cherish the finer moments in life but at the same time, capable of pushing through life's obstacles. You have a lot of people to thank for because you would have never reached where you are right now if it weren't for them. Cherish your friends and always show love to your family. Stay true to yourself and don't forget to reflect on the life lessons we learned throughout.
