Perhaps it would not be wise to start a sentence with an adverb, yet the inkling persists for me to do so and so I do; to the faces of tomorrow's yesterdays, I urge you to live life with ambiguity and let the path find you.

Moira Therese T. Rivera

For the past few years, I have been attending classes in Philosophy, Theology, Political Science, French, and Economics, etc. It is now that I realize how fortunate I am to be given the opportunity to learn, discover, and engage with professors, speakers, and mentors who are all so passionate and dedicated to their work. The knowledge and love Ateneo has imparted to me is something I will always be thankful for and will carry for the rest of my life.
