

Leslie Pauly S. Uy

This is Kris from The Bimbettes.

Food is such an ordinary and common necessity. However, food and I have a special bond. So, I would like to say thank you to food for accompanying me through all my tears, heartbreaks, and victories. You were my love and my solace during my darkest days.

Thank you also to my friends, Block E1, and my professors. All of you gave me a set of new eyes. To Ateneo, you showed me that there could be light in this dark world. Thank you for the wild opportunities.

Jariah Margotte R. Valencia

These four years, I looked forward to my favorite classes, braced myself for the terror probs, hung out with friends in Matteo, and rushed to grab lunch in between breaks. These were landmarks that I oriented myself with. But now, I must fold up this map and unroll a new one. What this contains, I don't know. I only know that He holds it in His hands and that these four years have informed me how I can navigate that future through faith, hope and love.