

Michael D. Basco

As I graduate, I feel a sense of unease. I thought it was because I was afraid of the challenges that I may face as an adult but now I know it is because of the life I will be leaving behind. I feel that my departure from Ateneo not only signals the end of my college experience but also the end of an era in my life. As I graduate, I now enter the real world but I know that thanks to my time in Ateneo, I am prepared for whatever may come my way.
