

John Lloyd M. Matias

To God who journeyed with me through this turbulent experience, thank You. I will make sure to use this gift of Atenean education for Your greater glory.

Jose Rafael C. Mendoza

Shakespeare wrote, “Some are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them.” Regardless of these circumstances, one thing is common—greatness is innate in all. The Ateneo has shaped us to embody greatness in the way we relate with others, the values we hold, the habits we form, and the passions we serve. However, greatness does not manifest if we choose to stay in our comfort zones. We must challenge ourselves to go beyond. Let us be fearless; let us be afraid.
