

Christine Bianca T. Crisostomo

BCris is uniquely stubborn—in her punctuality in arriving 20 minutes before class, or her tenacity to work at ungodly hours. What stands out is how strong and honest she is. Her fortitude from overcoming hurdles has grown into an empathic strength that radiates her sincerity. Her honesty is delivered with grace and care, which eventually teaches you to be honest with yourself. It is no surprise that her stubborn character will leave a distinct mark on your heart. (A. Lee)

Jeanne Elaine T. Cruz

Like the north star, she is the brightest in the night sky; but she is not a light that blinds. She is a light that brings warmth and overwhelming comfort, something we all need but struggle to find. The kind that's meant to guide you home. Up on the hill, they taught her how to shine even brighter, how to be of service, how to lead others home. Bright stars are not meant to shine light on themselves. Now, she is ready to be brave, to go forth, and to set the world on fire. (I. Fojas)
