

Lean Marcel T. David

The road that I am on might be different from the road that I intended to take, I am nevertheless grateful for what I have now and for those who supported me all the way. To my teachers, friends, blueREP, and theatre, thank you. You have molded me to the man I am now, equipped with tools I never dreamt of having. More importantly, you have taught me to remain humble throughout. Keeping these close to my heart, my only wish is to be able to set forth and teach others what you have taught me.

Daniel Marcos L. De Leon

MINOR IN INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS

“Cherish your visions and your dream as they are the children of your soul, the blueprints of your ultimate achievements.” (Napoleon Hill)