

Angel Hope M. Calzado

MINOR IN PHILOSOPHY

All four years in the Ateneo would have been a lot bleaker without Angel. She was one of those rare students who could party hard and ace their studies at the same time. There was never a dull moment with her around. More than that, she was someone you could count on, and how much she cares is something that we love and admire about her. Between her friends, family, and our country, she never seems to run out of space in her heart. Angel is no doubt both blessed and a blessing to us.

Alyssa Queenie Anne V. Chan

"I don't need to live by your rules. You don't control me until you've walked a mile in my shoes." (Ariana Grande, "You Don't Know Me")