

Maria Katrina B. Basilio

MINOR IN MICROBIOLOGY

A glance at Katsy is not enough to see that beyond the petite stature and baby face is a young lady with admirable strength and persistence. Even on terrible days, she faces her hardships graciously, and even helps her friends get through their own struggles. Indeed, she has blossomed into someone full of heart for everything and everyone. I am lucky to call her my best friend, and I know she will always be there for me—through the good, the bad, and the boys. (M. Bulalacao)

Oella Mari M. Cabangon

MINOR IN MOLECULAR TECHNOLOGY AND BIOTECHNOLOGY

Oella is the late-night bus ride to Tagaytay, the one-way ticket to Seoul. She carries her heart wherever she goes and leaves bits and pieces of it along the road. She loves losing herself in the moment, but she never loses sight of her goals.

Oella is not one to choose the paved path—she has an affinity for the crooked and the craggy. And while the future seems daunting, she will manage to come out strong. She will definitely go places, but she will always find her way back home. (T.S.)
