

Alexandra Therese R.
Narciso

These last four years in Ateneo is said to be a preparation for the real world, as people like to call it. But more than that, being in Ateneo was a reality that equipped all of us to live each moment with the people we encounter everyday. So here's to the friends we meet so unexpectedly, yet share the deepest and most meaningful conversations with. Here's to doing ordinary things extraordinarily without us even knowing it.

Eriven Larry H. Nepomuceno

"A day without laughter is a day wasted." (Nicolas Chamfort)