

J. Angela M. Ballesteros

MINOR IN EUROPEAN STUDIES

To the me years from now who has moved onwards towards fulfilling my wishes and dreams:

A journey is a never-ending chain of surprises. Oftentimes, what you expect to find isn't always what is waiting for you or isn't the only thing you get. Yet, even with sleepless nights and stressful days, there will always be people around you and unique experiences you will find that will always make your days full of life and love no matter how heavy the weight you carry may be.

Jethro Andrew Eli A.
Calacday

MINOR IN PHILOSOPHY

Quid est gaudium? What is joy? Joy is the primordial being-with-the-Divine. Joy pierces through time and guides us to that Source of Joy, which is Inaccessible Light. Joy enables us to say "I am" (I exist) beyond the audibility of the voice, but it is still in the voice—a voice in reverent silence that communes with the Divine.