

Bettina Adreana D. Reyes

Even with her eyes trained on the ground, she always sees the best in people. Shy and timid behind her glasses, Bettina is one of the sweetest dorks you'll ever meet. Weird, quirky, and full of surprises, Bettina will always somehow keep you on your toes—literally and metaphorically. These years in Ateneo have either been long and hard or slow-down-can't-keep-up hard. Either way, however difficult it has been, she'll always be the wonderful person and friend she always has been. (J. Li)

Francis Emmanuel V. Reyes

When I first entered Ateneo, I remember choosing it because of the color blue. Little did I know that years down the line, that one color would define most of my life. I've always called Ateneo my second home, but now it's time for me to move on. You know what they say: one day, the eagle's got to leave its nest. I've got my own wings now, and it's time for me to let them take me as far as I can go. It took me 16 years to finally be ready to fly, but that's what it takes to be a true blue eagle.