Dear Future Self,

As I write this to you, graduation is just around the corner. Right now, I don't think I'll be missing school after I go down the hill, but I'm sure you already miss it. I hope that now you're where I only wished to be, with the people I only dreamt of being with. Although life has never been most kind to you, never forget how much of a symbol of strength you are to the people around you. Always remember that you are more than who you think you are.

Love,

Senior Year Mar
