

Matthew Fernand M. Alano

MINOR IN HEALTH AND DEVELOPMENT

M is for Magis.

Ysabelle Bianca M. Andan

I never liked challenges. For the longest time, the things I wanted required minimal effort from me. Entering the Ateneo, however, challenged me. Suddenly, things weren't easy to get, and you have to work hard for something you want to achieve. You have to give more, to be more. Ateneo broke me in many ways, and I was pushed beyond my limit, but this didn't stop me. From failed quizzes to failed friendships, I learned how to bounce back and embrace challenges that help me be better everyday.