“There’s not a star in heaven that we can’t reach.” (T. Bolton, High School Musical)

David Emmanuel Y. Ahyong

The first time I stepped in Ateneo, I got lost in its surroundings. I don’t mean it metaphorically. I was literally getting lost. I’d go into rooms and suddenly realize I was in the wrong class. I always brought my schedule with me as I travelled from different classes and buildings. Despite losing my way numerous times, the people and the memories I’ve acquired made this space familiar. Like street lights in the night, I slowly but surely found my destination and I can say, “It is beautiful.”
