When you leave here, don't forget why you came." (Aldai Stevenson)

Rhea Celestine S. Chong

There's a sort of life that Rhea brings to the room when she walks in radiating happiness—a liveliness that I wouldn't expect from someone who has to juggle all of the things she does. Despite this, she still walks into rooms with a grin and a lively greeting, dishing out jokes and banter. Sometimes, I wonder if those around will be less lively than when we graduate, but seeing the smiles she's infected them with, I can't help but feel like the life she's given is here to stay. (P. Castor)
