“Tables turn, bridges burn, you live and learn.” (Drake)

Francis Denise C. Amante

Denise radiates as she fills the hallways of Ateneo with her striking presence and undeniably pleasing personality. Family always comes first for her, and she never fails to make her friends feel like family. A woman of true class and sophistication who remains humble in every way, she is the embodiment of modern grace. Through a well-balanced mixture of fun and diligence, she works hard but parties even harder. Undoubtedly destined for greatness, a bright future awaits Denise in the real world.
