"After four years, my brother still finds it difficult to write about himself in the third-person. This juvenile quirk has always been characteristic of him, slumped shoulders and coffee eyes and all. We laugh about it often, how we're here for a good time, not a long time; hard-working and hardly ever working. His lower back disagrees, but it was definitely worth it. Ateneo, thank you for the lessons learned. He fell down many times, pero never siya nagkalat 'dun, man.'" (F. Luna)
