MINOR IN ECONOMICS

For everyone I've met along my Ateneo adventure, thank you. Just a simple reminder: when life gives you lemons, take it with a grain of salt, and use it for all your ice breakers and your identity. In the end, make the best lemonade and lemon squares anyone could ever imagine, but remember it should taste good to you first before anyone else. Then, sleep.

As someone who loves to travel and explore, itching to go on an adventure everywhere and never remaining stagnant, I never would have thought leaving a place and the people I have come to know and love could be this heartbreaking. It pains me to have to say goodbye to this adventure, to go down the hill and be what Ateneo has cultivated me to be: a woman for others Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam. But despite my departure, I know I will always have a home to come back to in Ateneo.
