

Jireh Grace S. Chua

I came into Ateneo without any idea of what the future holds for me. Now, as I depart from my second home for the last four years, I still have no idea what my future looks like. The only thing I'm sure of is that Ateneo has prepared me to face the realities of life, headstrong and heart strong, even if I'm not ready for it. I guess we just all need to take the leap and enjoy the bumpy ride of life—because life is simple, but no one ever said it was easy.

Kim Benedick V. Chua

Always be grateful.

A lot of the challenges I came across during my stay in the Ateneo didn't make sense at first, but as I go down the hill, I realize that everything has come together. The opportunities I've taken, the classes I've had, and the people I've met—both those who've left and those who've stayed—have shaped me into who I am now. Each day, I've grown to become a better version of myself, and for that, I will always be grateful.