

Rene Antonio R. Melevo

Throughout my life, I've lived by one mantra, "Be better today than you were yesterday." I'd like to believe that I've managed to get some distance from where I first began. To those who have guided and aided me, I hope you're proud. For all that I've learned, for all that I've lost, and for all that I've managed to achieve, I can only thank God and you. And to those who have walked with me, I love you. See you all, and I hope we all make our dreams come true.

Kyla Jann B. Melo

Yay for graduation and extended writeup submission woohoo