“You can’t pour from an empty cup.”

For inspiring me to fill myself with knowledge, insights, and understanding. For teaching me to be thankful for everything I have been blessed with. For letting me learn how to look at things through different perspectives. For making me more critical. For urging me to want to become a better person for myself and for others. Thank you, Ateneo! The past four years of adventures (and death c/o acads) were great!
