“Awake, dear heart, awake. Thou hast slept well. Awake.” (W. Shakespeare)
Working around deadlines, the past few years have been a struggle to stay awake. Yet, it is always good to be woken up by new encounters, trials, and things to look forward to. Here’s to the people who always make sure that I face every new dawn with a sense of wonder and hope. This is yours as much as it is mine. For reminding my little heart to love and to always remain open, thank you, Ateneo.
No more snoozing.

In Ateneo, we learn to strive for a better world. But with the world as it is now, it may seem unattainable. So, remember this:
“Do not let your fire go out, spark by irreplaceable spark in the hopeless swamps of the not-quite, the not-yet, and the not-at-all. Do not let the hero in your soul perish in lonely frustration for the life you deserved and have never been able to reach. The world you desire can be won. It exists, it is real, it is possible, it’s yours.” (A. Rand, Atlas Shrugged)
