MINOR IN MANAGEMENT

I never forgot what my professor told us when we passed one of our difficult projects: "If you got through this, you'll get through Ateneo." Ateneo taught me to come to terms with everything I could do, everything I could not do, and everything I'll continue to hold on to. Now that I got through, I know that I can get through life. Thank you, Ateneo. Most of all, thank you, Mom & Dad, for working your hardest to send me here. As we go down the hill, here's to constantly trying and hoping for what matters!

"You musn't be afraid to dream a little bigger, darling."
Thanks for everyone and everything, Ateneo. You made each day worth chasing.
