“All men dream, but not equally. Those who dream by night in the dusty recesses of their minds, wake in the day to find that it was vanity; but the dreamers of the day are dangerous men, for they may act on their dreams with open eyes, to make them possible.” (T. E. Lawrence)

Ateneo was just a dream. The ACET was too hard. Katipunan was so far.

4 years later, the dream has become a reality.

4 years later, the reality still feels like a dream.

“They that hope in the Lord will find new strength; they will soar as with EAGLE’s wings. They will run and not grow weary; they will walk and not grow faint.” (Isaiah 40:31)

Ateneo swept me off the ground, pushed me off the cliff, and made me realize that I could fly high. All thanks to my family who went to the ends of the earth so that this dream would come true, friends I gained along the way, teachers who believed in me, blueREP, and God who allowed me to wear blue and white with pride.
