MINOR IN CHINESE STUDIES

Finding yourself doesn't only mean discovering who you are as an individual, but also knowing your role and purpose in the world that you hope will benefit many. We must believe in ourselves to enable others to do the same. After four years at the Ateneo, what I will take with me is to be happy and help others to feel the same. To enjoy the moments that come our way. And to always be grateful for family, friends, and mentors who have given us experiences for a lifetime.
