

Rodolfo Julio A. Manaligod

It's when you forget that you're only human that you realize you've lived. Thank you for all those readings and papers that no ordinary man could finish, for those nights that no sane man would put himself through. Thank you for the friends I will miss and for the friends I haven't met yet, for the gift of hope and the will to keep on going. I've become more than I thought I could be—I've lived as an Atenean. I thank the Ateneo for all the joys and the tears, and for giving me a place to belong.

Katrina Alexandria S. Manlapaz

"The sooner you quit something that stinks, the faster you can find something that doesn't. Save your hope for that." (Lillian Kaushtupper, Unbreakable Kimmy Schmidt)