"We have always held to the hope, the belief, the conviction that there is a better life, a better world, beyond the horizon." (Franklin Roosevelt)

In the simplest sense, my journey in Ateneo wasn't perfect, but it was fulfilling. It was here that I realized getting D's can feel as triumphant as getting A's. It was here that I learned to value the company of my friends as we got through sleepless nights in coffee shops. Much more than the great things I learned academically, it was in this journey that I learned how to gain courage and appreciate the little moments of bliss that made me realize it was worth getting through the hard times.
